

Cole’s Sep 23 email — and the number for the 25th

Cole Rice to Dr. Kim · Salary and Production Calculation · Sep 23, 2026, 5:51 PM

What Cole defined: ProSal = hourly is a guaranteed “base,” treated as an advance on 23% of doctor-driven revenue. Quarterly, if $23\% \times \text{revenue} > \text{hourly already paid}$, they pay the difference. If not, you keep hourly. No negative accrual. Production is not on the 25th paycheck.

What he did not send: the dollar amount for the 25th. Your reply was right: you asked for that math, not a lecture.

PAY ON THE 25TH UNDER THEIR EMAIL

Even in Cole’s examples, the period paycheck is hourly only. 23% waits until the quarter ending Dec 31, 2026.

Shift	Hours	Your invoice	Their written rates
Sep 8 8p–12a	4	$1,000	$4 \times $250 = $1,000$
Sep 10 8a–8p	12	$3,000	$12 \times $250 = $3,000$
Sep 14 8p–12a	4	$1,000	$4 \times $250 = $1,000$
Sep 15 12a–8a on-call	8	$8 \times $300 = $2,400$	$8 \times $250 + $300 \text{ fee} = $2,300$
Sep 15 12a–6a	6	$1,500	$6 \times $250 = $1,500$
Sep 19 Midtown 8p–12a	4	$1,000	$4 \times $250 = $1,000$
Hourly due on the 25th		$9,900.00	$9,800.00

Amy’s Sep 13 line was “On Call Fee: $300,” which matches Cole’s “one-time fee per call-in,” not $300/hour. The $100 gap is only that point. Production is $0 on this check either way (see below).

THEIR $8,473.67 VS OUR GROSS

Step	Amount
Kim Roslyn positive Gross (14 invoices)	$10,326.32
Minus Willie order discount	–$542.88
Minus credits / not-rendered (they netted these)	–$1,622.63
Minus Christine Darcy N/A invoice $285.78	–$285.78
Plus Midtown Galgal + Grey	+$598.64
Equals Cole’s “invoice total”	$8,473.67

$23\% \times $8,473.67 = \mathbf{$1,948.94}$. Hourly already $9,800–$9,900. Difference is about –$7,850. Under their own Example 2: no production bonus this quarter so far. The 25th is hourly only.

WHAT TO DEMAND IN ONE SENTENCE

Reply to Cole: “For the 25th, confirm the hourly dollar amount you will post to ADP. Using your rates that is $9,800 (or $9,900 if on-call is $300/hour as I logged). Production is quarterly — I still need the 25th number today.”
